SCHOOL OPENS WITH LARGE REGISTRATION

Drayton Valley Schools got under way, along with almost all other schools in the province the day after Labor Day. If first-day enrollment in any indication the 1958-59 school year in Drayton Valley promises to be a sell-out success, at least so far as attendance is concerned.

The Elementary School enrollment was approximately 560 students in the grades from 1 to 6. Principal of the Elementary School is Mr. John Gray, former principal for the Entwistle School.

The classes and their teachers follow in the following list, although some of the assignments may be changed later.

There are at present three Grade One classes with a fourth one almost certain to be added a little later. In Grade One, teachers are, Miss Mary Judge, of New Zealand, Miss B. Ringley, of the United Kingdom, Miss B. Gittens, also of the U.K.

In Grade Two is Mrs. G. Palmer, one of last year's teachers, Mrs. A. Kupchenko, who has also taught in Drayton Valley before, Miss Joan Williams, a local girl, Mrs. M. Bullen, who has taught here previously and Mrs. L. Bayless, a local woman, are teaching the third grade.

In fourth grade Mrs. E. Lewinuk, of the Rocky Rapids district is teaching, Mrs. Lewinuk also taught in Drayton Valley previously. The other Grade four teacher is Mrs. E.J. Kosbernish, of Redwater.

Grade Five has enrolled Mrs. Wollschlaeger former teacher and principal of the Violet Grove School, Mrs. Zetta McKee, who taught here last year as Miss Zetta Brown, and Miss C. Fedorus, of Wetaskiwin.

Grade Six pupils are taught by Miss Vera Kos, of Moon Lake, one of last year's teachers, Mrs. E. Brown who also taught last year, and Mr. John Gray.

Two other teachers have joined the staff since the first registration day, but have not yet been assigned to their classes permanently, they are Mrs. Lammeyer, of Drayton Valley and Mr. Robert Christensen, of Stony Plain.

Enrollment in Grade One stands at 115 at present, and it is expected that quite a large number of youngsters will register yet for the first grade.

The High School Principal is Mr. Tom McManus, who was principal of the Elementary School previously, he was also principal for Junior High last year. This year the division has been made between Elementary and High at the Seventh Grade. Mrs. Glass is vice-principal.

Teachers are Mrs. Arkinstall, who taught here last year and Miss E. Holmes, of Evansburg, in the Seventh Grade.

The two Grade Eight classes are taught by Mr. R. Murray, of St. Paul and Mr. F. Oymaluk; Registration for Grade Eight is 45, with 72 registered in Grade Seven.

Grade Nine teachers are Mrs. A. Glass and Mr. W. Glass, a mother and son team from Rocky Rapids. Mrs. Glass has taught here for a number of years. Billy Glass taught last year in Brantford. There are 18 students enrolled in Grade Nine.

High School teachers are Mr. McManus, Mr. V. Kupchenko and his son, Mr. Olie Kupchenko and Mrs. Peggy Tyler. All of these have taught in Drayton Valley before. Enrollment in Grade Ten is 35, in Grade Eleven 35 and in Grade Twelve 15.

On the opening day of School both Mr. Maddock, Chairman of Stony Plain School Division Board and Mr. Hannochka, Superintendent of the Division were on hand to discuss plans for the building of four more classrooms to join the two present buildings together. Construction is due to start at once.

KEN MASON'S COLUMN:

EDMONTON — A uranium rush appears to be developing in the extreme north-western corner of Alberta. What it will end is anyone's guess. At this point, but people in mining circles say it looks big.

It all came about as a result of work carried out in 1957 and 1958 by geological field parties of the Research Council of Alberta.

The geologists found deposits of molybdenite, important in steel-making processes, and radioactive minerals including high-grade uranium.

A preliminary report on the Research Council's findings was released last week, and the result was a flurry of excitement among prospectors and geologists in Edmonton and other parts of Canada.

The mineral-rich area covers about 150 square miles north of Lake Athabasca, about 450 air miles north of Edmonton. At the time of writing, prospectors were flocking to the area.

Dr. C. F. Gravenor, Research Council geologist, headed the field parties which studied deposits in the area where the Precambrian shield cuts across the northwestern corner of Alberta.

He emphasized that the Research Council report is based only on surface showings and certain "grab" samples of rock which were brought out of the area. He said detailed exploration by prospectors and geologists will prove whether valuable ore is hidden in commercial quantities.

Even so, the release of the council's report caused a lot of excitement in mining circles here. Prospectors rushed to Research Council here to grab up copies of the report and examine samples which were on display. Then they made arrangements to fly into the remote northern area for an on-the-spot investigation.

Airlines and charter plane firms reported a rush of business. It was so big, in fact, that some of them couldn't handle it. The charter companies have all their spare aircraft tied up on forest fire operations in northern Alberta.

There also were reports of prospectors flocking into the area from the Beaverlodge uranium mining district a few miles east in Saskatchewan.

One of the most interesting features of the report deals with samples taken from a zone containing highly radioactive bands with molybdenite. Geologists followed the radioactivity for more than half a mile.

An assay of the samples showed 1.03 per cent uranium oxide. This may seem small, but to mining men it's anything but small when you consider the Beaverlodge, Sask., mining empire was built on rocks which assayed around .3 per cent.

It's probably coincidental, but the Research Council report comes at a time when controversy is raging over the route for a railway to provide access to rich base metals deposits on Great Slave Lake in the Northwest Territories.

The discovery of valuable minerals in northeastern Alberta will add strength to the arguments of those who favor a route through Waterways and McMurray, but residents of the Peace River country in the northwest raised a storm of protest.

Now Ottawa says plans must be delayed in view of the controversy.

This more or less beats out a prediction made by Premier Manning at the height of the dispute, when opposing sides were asking his government to take a stand in favor of one route or the other.

He said his government favors the building of a railway to the Northwest Territories. A big squabble over the route, he said, would give Ottawa a perfect excuse to postpone action on it.

Nothing has been said officially, but word has it that if factions in Alberta continue to fight over the railway, Ottawa might decide to build it north from Manitoba or Saskatchewan. Then what would happen to Alberta's claim to being the gateway to the last frontier.

Besides strengthening arguments for the northeastern route, the Research Council report also confirms a belief prospectors have held for some time about the far corner of Alberta. In 1953, a small staking rush developed in the area. Some 1,300 claims were staked, but no work was done and they were allowed to lapse.

Mining men are hopeful that it will be different this time. Indication are that some big companies are interested, and if this is so there could be some major development work.

HAROLD McLAUGHLIN M.L.A. FOR STONY PLAIN CONSTITUENCY REPORTS

The following draft on Agricultural Policy resulted from caucus discussions by M.L.A.'s supplemented by suggestions from key Liberals throughout the province and will be the basis for discussion and action at the Leadership Convention to be held in Edmonton on October 31st and November 1st.

REVISED DRAFT

PROVINCIAL LIBERAL POLICY IN RESPECT TO AGRICULTURE

GENERAL

Based on the belief that the family sized farm unit is still the mainstay of Agriculture in Alberta, Liberal Policy is designed primarily to make rural life more secure and, also, to make it more attractive through the provision of modern services and utilities.

To achieve this we advocate an imaginative approach to the problems of Agriculture and the re-organization of the Department in order that it may give better service and guidance to the farmers.

Specifically, Liberal Policies would be designed to:

1. Develop a comprehensive system of agricultural credit at low interest rates co-ordinated with existing Federal plans to cover the whole field of farm operations, such as land, livestock, and improvements including farm homes.
2. Give more aid to rural areas in acquiring modern utilities including telephones and natural gas by means of planned development and interest-free loans as now provided for Power Co-operatives in areas of scattered settlement.
3. Co-operate with the Federal Government in developing a satisfactory system of crop insurance.
4. Expand and improve District Agriculturalist services and give more aid to municipalities for agricultural service board activities.
5. Make much better use of agricultural school facilities by transferring them to the Department of Education with the addition of Trade and Vocational Training courses. As much agricultural training should be provided as there is demand for and practical courses be available for those farm boys and girls who have a genuine interest in agriculture or household economics, but lack the academic ability to carry on through high school.
6. Promote the best possible use of our agricultural resources by the following means:

- (a) All phases of water control to be co-ordinated under one department including water for power, irrigation, domestic and industrial use. Irrigation to be developed strictly in accordance with need, including range stock watering. Present waste and extravagance in government controlled projects must be eliminated.
- (b) In recognition of the serious threats of soil erosion and loss of fertility a provincially assisted system of seed distribution designed to greatly increase the use of grass and other forage crops would be part of an overall program for better land use.
- (c) Co-operate with the P.F.R.A. in the development of a community pasture system along yr lines so successful in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.
- (d) Develop an over-all plan to cope with possibility of very serious feed shortage which, with present great increase in cattle population, could occur with even one years general drought.
- (e) Make an impartial technical survey as a first step in trying to arrive at a solution for the present bitter controversy between stockmen and sportsmen over grazing in the Forest Reserves.

congregation and the folks of this district.

Reverend Wright took his work at St. Stephens College, in Edmonton, where he received B.A. and B.D. degrees, he also took a post graduate course in Economics. He was raised in Provost.

While attending college Mr Wright supplied the Church at Redwater. The Wrights came here from Edmonton. They came out to Drayton Valley about a month ago, when Reverend and Mrs. Sayers left to go to their new charge in Calgary, but left on their vacation immediately afterward and have now just returned.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR ADDRESSES DRAYTON VALLEY ROTARY.

Local Rotarians had a treat in store for them when District Governor Rotarian Mel Cunningham, with Mrs. Cunningham, visited the local club, and addressed the club following their weekly dinner meeting in Scout Hall.

The meeting was "Ladies Night" and the Rotarians attending the dinner were accompanied by their wives, the "Rotary Anns".

Mr. Cunningham spoke on the ideals of service, particularly community service. He mentioned the town where he is in business, Red Deer, as an object of unified community service when several of the service clubs banded together to build a home for elderly folks. He told of a visit to the Orient, and how he had been impressed at the need there for help for the many poverty-stricken families, who would often sleep out on the streets at night, without adequate food. He suggested that a project might be to adopt a needy family and contribute to their support.

On the following morning local Rotarians took the District Governor to the site of the Fracturing plant and Pembina Pipe Line pumping plant on the east side of the river. He was much impressed with the size of the projects.

LIONS HOLD SOCIAL EVENING

To get the ball rolling for the coming season Drayton Valley Lions Club had their first meeting of the new season in the form of a social evening in the Cerium Room.

Four couples from Edson and one couple from Edmonton was in attendance at the gathering and a good number of the local members, with their wives, were on hand also, to make a very pleasant social evening. The social was held on Tuesday, September 2.

DRAYTON VALLEY TURNED DOWN FOR CHECKING STATION.

Three years of effort to get a Highways Department Testing Station in Drayton Valley ended in failure for the Chamber of Commerce and other interested groups when the new list of testing stations was published.... sans the name of Drayton Valley.

Just what prompted the thinking in the Motor Vehicle branch of the Department of Highways is not known, but anyway, they put new stations in Evansburg and another one in Mayerthorpe, just 30 miles from Evansburg.

Those required to take drivers tests will now have to drive into Evansburg instead of Edmonton, so there has not been much gained for once on the main highway the tendency is to keep on going till one reaches Edmonton, anyway.

A more logical step would have been the driver testing station in Mayerthorpe, with Evansburg folks driving there for tests, and another one in Drayton Valley, which is certainly more centrally located, and in the centre of a larger population area.

If one is placed in Drayton Valley it will certainly not be for at least a year now, if at all.

REV. SCHIECK RESIGNS.

Reverend Richard Schieck tendered his resignation to the Drayton Valley Church of God a few weeks ago and it became effective last Sunday, August 31. He preached his last sermon Sunday evening and left, with his family, for Irma the next morning.

Mr Schieck will assist in the church at Irma for the time being, while other plans are being formulated. Mrs Schieck was raised at Irma and Mr Schieck was raised at nearby Melville. They came to Drayton Valley from Gamrose, where they had been working in Alberta Bible College Bookstore, going to Bible school and supply preaching in churches near Gamrose. The Schiecks were in Drayton Valley for five years and will be much missed by the members of their congregation and by their many friends in this district. A couple of weeks ago members and friends of the church gathered to give them farewell gifts.

The Church of God in Drayton Valley has extended a call to Rev. Jarvis Wulff, of Bertha, Minnesota, to pastor the charge here. Mr Wulff has accepted and will come here in about a month.

BOX 120, DRAYTON VALLEY, ALBERTA.

DRAYTON VALLEY ROTARY CLUB STAGES HUGE CAR BINGO.

Drayton Valley Rotary Club put on an in-car Bingo game in the Drayton Valley Rodeo grounds the evening of Wednesday, September 10. A total of 1601 Master Bingo Cards were sold.

Two brand new Chevrolet cars were won by local residents. One of the cars was won by Mrs. Fred De Groot, whose husband is employed with Mobil Oil. The other was won by Mrs. Iris Shelton, of Entwistle, whose husband is a trucker. The Shelton's lost everything in a house trailer fire about two months ago, and they had no car, so the new Chevies were well received.

Also given were other valuable prizes, including a deepfreeze, a refrigerator, a Hi-Fi, a washing machine, a sewing machine and a chrome set. Gate prizes consisted of two radios, one a regular radio and one a custom car radio. Winners of these prizes will be announced next week.

The evening is reported by all to have been most pleasant. At the close a minor disturbance occurred when a man who was under the influence of liquor caused a little trouble, which was greatly exaggerated in radio reports, which were given of the incidence. The one who caused the disturbance was brought up in police court the next morning and charged with causing a disturbance in a public place and was fined and charged court costs.

RIG WORKER KILLED AT CYNTHIA

A rig accident a few days ago took the life of Art Toeler, aged about 30, in the Cynthia area. The accident occurred at the Regent Drilling rig site last Sunday morning.

Mr. Toeler was married and had a family. He was living in Lodgepole at the time of the fatal accident. According to reports a drill rack fell over on him, crushing him to death.

Coroner Dr. Brooks has ordered an inquest which will be held on September 18, in Drayton Valley.

WRESTLING CARD SEPTEMBER 18.

Drayton Valley Lions Club is sponsoring another wrestling card in the Drayton Valley Curling Rink at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, September 18.

Each of the previous events have been quite well attended and it is expected that this one, too, will attract a good crowd.

Billed on the card are Murray Parks, of Drayton Valley vs. Butch Higgins of Edmonton. The second match is a Girls Tag Team, with Marg Oeski of Edmonton and Joyce Smythe of Minot, North Dakota pitting their skill against Ivonne Ames of Portland and Corine Jackson of Spokane. The first event will be a First Fall or 30 minute time limit, the girls match will be 2 out of 3 falls, or 1 hour time limit and the main event, between Mr. Grizzly, of Kitchikan, Alaska and Jack Kryz, of Spokane, versus the Osborne Brothers. Bud and Ray, from Jasper Place, will be a 2 falls out of 3 or a 1 hour time limit deal.

Referees will be Phil Klein. Proceeds from this and previous matches goes toward the furnishing of a room in Drayton Valley Hospital.
